At length we have some news from Europe of an authentic, if not of an interesting character. It is proved, by this arrival, that the report received by way of the West Indies, respecting a revolution, said to have taken place in France, is without foundation.—Nat. Int.

FROM VENEZUELA.

Boston, April 2.
We were yesterday favored by Mr. Burdick, of the Exchange Coffee-House, with the following account of war events in Venezuela, received by the Globe, from Port-au-Prince. It differs in dates and circumstances from the information received at Baltimore. "That on the 4th March a sloop arrived at Jacquemel from Barcelona, in Venezuela, with information: "That on the 15th Feb. Gen. Bolivar was attacked near Barcelona, by the royalist General Morillo, with 4000 regulars from Carthagena, &c. assisted by the whole Spanish naval force on the coast; and that the battle lasted the whole day, with various results; "That on the 16th Bolivar entrenched himself in Barcelona, and was five times furiously attacked by the royalists, but succeeded in gallantly repulsing them every time; and on the evening of the 16th, perceiving the Spanish squadron advancing, he set fire to his squadron, which was consumed, and incorporated the marine (500 in number) with his troops. He then explained to his army the necessity which compelled him to order the destruction of his squadron, and informed them they had no alternative but to conquer or die. His address was answered with three cheers! "That on the 17th Gen. Bolivar was again attacked by land and sea; but without effect: And in the night the royalists threw up entrenchments: which were attacked, sword in hand, by Bolivar, at the head of his troops, and the royalist driven therefrom, with great slaughter: Being at the same time joined by Gen. Marino, Gen. B. was enabled to put the Royalists to flight; and "That when the sloop sailed, (the 18th) two battalions had joined Bolivar, and the revolutionary army was in high spirits, confident in the talents of their undaunted chief."

DIED—In Clarke county, on Thursday last, after a long and lingering illness, Mr. WILLIAM RILEY, aged 25 years.

Notice to Soldiers.

WOOL CARDING.

THE subscriber having purchased the Wool Carding Machine lately owned by Harrison & Armstrong, informs his friends and the public that the same is in complete order, and is now ready to run. It is requested that the wool be well cleaned, and clean grease to be brought with it, but not to grease the wool themselves. The same person who attended to the Carding last year will do so this year.

Transylvania University,

APRIL 9, 1817.
DURING the last summer's session, a Ticket of Merit standing that the bearer was the first or second best in his class, was given at three or four monthly examinations. At the commencement of the session which ends at this date, it was proposed that the same mode should be continued through the winter; and, as an additional encouragement, the students were told that, at the end of the session, the names of all who might receive such tickets would be published in the newspapers of the town. At the monthly examination for Nov. it was found extremely hard to determine who were the first or second best. A new set of tickets was then made out for the Dec. examination, stating that the bearer had not on examination, "missed a single word"—and the mode was continued at the examination for January, and at the general examination of this week. The following is a correct statement of the aggregate of the tickets of the last description.

N. B. In the above statement the department of languages only is concerned—had the plan embraced the scientific department, an account equally good might have been given of it.

The Summer session in the University will commence on the first Monday of May next. A course of Lectures will be delivered during the session on Natural Philosophy, Moral Philosophy, and History. The Mathematical course of instruction will also be considerably enlarged.
