

POETRY.

OLD BACHELORS.

BY A LADY.

Old bachelors are hateful things, Which ought to be despis'd, With hearts like broken fiddle strings, And just as little priz'd

Don't d love's soft thrilling touch, No pleasure do they know; They feel not, and they taste not much Of happiness below

The joys of wedlock, which they spurn, With all its numerous cares— For a year, should love's lamp burn, Are worth an age of theirs.

Was't but for them, the human race Would soon be swept away; And even earth, to their disgrace, Would tumble to decay.

The social bond—that bond so sweet, Where heart and soul unite; Where friendship, love, and union meet, Would sink in endless night.

But 'tis in vain for me to prate, I cannot make them clever; Old bachelors I always hate, And must and shall forever.
